DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Claim 1 recites “when both second magnets are attracted by the at least one first magnet, the lid is immovable relative to the hollow body so as to close the communication between the open end and the outlet”. However, if the lid is “immovable” from the closed position as required by the claim, how can the lid be moved to an open position (as also required by the claim)? Therefore, the specification does not enable one skilled in the art to make and/or use the invention that requires a lid that is immovable from the closed position also be movable to an open position.

Art Unit: 3754

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 recites “when both second magnets are attracted by the at least one first magnet, the lid is immovable relative to the hollow body so as to close the communication between the open end and the outlet”. However, if the lid is “immovable” from the closed position as required by the claim, how can the lid be moved to an open position (as also required by the claim)? It is vague and indefinite as to what is meant by “immovable” is the lid must also be movable.

5. In light of the above informalities, the claims can not be treated on prior art. However, it should be noted that the examiner's failure to apply prior art to any of the claims should not be construed as an indication of allowable subject matter. Applicant should consider the references cited when amending the claims.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Simmonds, Borg, Lin, Tsukada et al., Teok, Hyobu, and DeRosa et al. disclose containers and lids with magnetic devices.

7. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Eric Keasel whose telephone number is (571) 272-4929. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday-Friday.
